DISCOVER YORK

An iconic English city

York is one of England's great historic cities: a place of Roman roots, Viking stories and medieval streets, crowned by the magnificent York Minster. Within its ancient walls, cobbled lanes, remarkable buildings and exceptional museums bring 2,000 years of history to life.

Full of character, culture and atmosphere, it is an inspiring setting for a study trip—combining serious learning with the pleasure of discovering England together.

Excellent academic seminars

Excellent tutor-led seminars complement the visits, with stimulating discussion, thoughtful teaching and space for students to explore ideas in depth. The tutor chooses the content to suit the group and make the most of York's rich setting.

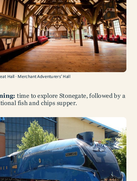

York's medieval city walls

DAY 1

Roman & Viking York

Walk the City Walls for a first panoramic view. At JORVIK Viking Centre, ride through a reconstructed Viking street, then investigate the past through hands-on archaeology at DIG.

Discover Eboracum: the Roman city where Septimius Severus died and Constantine was proclaimed emperor—a vivid connection with Britain's place in the Roman world.

Evening: welcome dinner and a ghost walk through The Shambles and the medieval lanes.

The Shambles

DAY 2

Medieval majesty

Explore York Minster and its Great East Window, then follow the medieval lanes of The Shambles to Clifford's Tower.

Clifford's Tower

Visit Merchant Adventurers' Hall, with Treasurer's House included as opening times and the programme allow. A Minster tower climb is an optional extra.

The Great Hall - Merchant Adventurers' Hall

Evening: time to explore Stonegate, followed by a traditional fish and chips supper.

Mallard - National Railway Museum collection

DAY 3

Railways, science & chocolate

Discover the great engines of the National Railway Museum, including Mallard, holder of the world steam locomotive speed record.

Then explore York's Rowntree's and Terry's heritage at York's Chocolate Story, with tasting and chocolate-making.

York's Chocolate Story

Evening: a quiz or ceilidh-style social—a chance to relax and enjoy time together.

King's Cross - the starting point for our London day

DAY 4

A day in London

York grew into one of the great centres of Britain's early railway age. Today, its excellent direct rail connections make London an exciting day trip.

Starting at King's Cross, we will explore a selection of London's wonderful museums and historic sites. The day combines the excitement of the capital with opportunities to discover its culture and history.

Evening: return to York by train.

OUR YORK HOME

Together in the city

The group stays together at a central York guest house, in single-gender rooms of three to four, with staff on site to supervise and support students.

Why York?

- Layers of history: discover Roman, Viking and medieval heritage in one unforgettable city.
- A walkable historic centre: compact streets make it easy to explore the city together.
- Ideas brought to life: excellent academic seminars add depth to the places students visit.
- Remarkable variety: archaeology, architecture, engineering, food heritage and a day in the capital.
